RUSSIANS MOVE ON BRESLAU

Petroleum Claims That Advance Is Steady, and That Both Vienna and Budapest are Now Menaced; Pressure Is Brought to Bear Upon Italy.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The weather conditions which were exceptionally favorable to modern military operations during the first six weeks of the war have now changed radically and are in the main responsible for the lull prevailing over all the war areas, with the exception of the combined Montenegrin and Serbian assaults on the coveted provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Accompanying the report of bad weather comes the ominous news of the presence of disease. Hungary has acknowledged an outbreak of cholera among her troops, and while it is denied officially, the same source is said to have attacked the Serbian troops.

The operations in Alsace-Lorraine are said to have come to a complete stop on account of snow storms. It is and floods are reported also from the Italian operations and probably account for the cessation of the Russian attack on the retreating Austrians.

Station conditions will intensify greatly with more troops and troops taking the offensive may be greatly hampered by inability to bring up their artillery.

Several of the great German sieges, probably, destined for use against the fortifications of Paris, have fallen into the hands of the enemy, having become stuck in the mud when the Germans began their retreat from the Marne.

The French have been digging the artillery out, but the same cause which led to their abandonment may prevent the allies from turning them over to their former owners.

The latest official communication from Paris was even more lull than usual. It said that the battle was developing on the left wing of the allies, that there was a lull in the center, and that the attack on the allies right had been repulsed.

Retreating reports that Russian troops in pursuit of the Austrians are now within one march of the river Vistula and the city of Tarnow, which is only a few miles from Cracow, and connected by rail with Budapest and Vienna.

Copenhagen reports a great battle in East Prussia, the dispatches declaring also that a Russian army is marching on Breslau.

Dispatches from Nish, Serbia, report a continuous advance into Bosnia, saying also that all the efforts of the Austrians to cross the river Danube have been checked after furious fighting.

In the diplomatic field the pressure on Italy to leave the cause of the Triple Entente is renewed daily. The allies point out that in case of their victory, Serbia must be given a port on the Adriatic, and the half of Vienna, on which port Italy long has cast hungry eyes, is being held before the Serbian government as a possible reward, particularly if Italy fails to join the allies.

PARIS WAR OFFICE SAYS ALLIES ARE GAINING.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—The following official communication was given out this afternoon:

"First, on our left wing there has begun a general action of great violence between those detachments of our forces that are operating between the river Somme and the Oise and the army corps which the enemy has formed in the region around Terguier and St. Quentin. Their primary purpose is to come from the center of the German lines and others from Louviers and the Vosges. The last named corps were transported by rail to Cambrai, by way of Douai and Valenciennes, to the north of the Aisne as far as Berry-au-Bac, there has been no change of importance.

Second, in the center we have a process of great things in the action of Berry and Moronvilliers, other to the east as far as the Artois region the situation shows no change. To the east of Arras the enemy has not been able to move on. A counter-attack has been made in the fortified positions of Cambrai and Pouligny, which covered Klervilliers and other positions in the Ardennes region between Jambouille and Trazegnies. All the enemy's efforts on the Aisne have been repulsed.

KRONPRINZ WILHELM

By Associated Press.

RIO JANEIRO, via London, Sept. 25.—The German steamer Prussia has arrived at Santos and landed the master and 15 men of the British steamer Indian Prince, which was sunk by the German auxiliary cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm.

The Kronprinz Wilhelm of the North German Lloyd line a ship of 5,152 tons, one time monarch of the Atlantic and still one of the fastest of merchant ships, with a speed of 23 knots, put boldly to sea from New York on the night of August 3, defying the vigilance of whatever enemies might have been in the harbor. Until today nothing had been heard of the vessel.

The heights of the Meuse and our troops, moving out of Toul, advanced to the region of Beaumont.

"Third, on our right wing, Lorraine and the Vosges, the fighting has been of minor importance at Nancy. To the east of Lunéville the enemy has made some demonstration along the river Vesouze and the river Meuse.

RENEW SIEGE OF VERDUN IS PLANNED BY GERMANS.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, September 25.—It has been said that a new battle was developing on the left wing, but so far as London is concerned this is yet lacking official confirmation.

There were also reports that the Germans have made gigantic preparations to renew the siege of Verdun. The heaviest siege artillery, according to these reports, is being transported by the German front lines, and they are sacrificing thousands of lives in their endeavor to place these monsters in position.

The plan to the east of Verdun is said in London to be given up by 15,000 dead and 15,000 wounded, the result of repeated German advances which have followed each other with lightning-like rapidity.

ZEPPELIN DROPS THREE BOMBS UPON OSTEND.

By Associated Press.

OSTEND, Sept. 25.—A Zeppelin alighting coming from the direction of Thourout, 12 miles southwest of Bruges, Belgium, dropped three bombs yesterday. One of them struck the avenue Pile Saint de Noyor Bridge, on the outskirts of town, another fell in the harbor and another on the premises of a wholesale fish dealer in the fish market, partly wrecking the building.

The explosion here made a great cavity in the ground and badly damaged all surrounding houses, extinguished the street lamps, destroyed electric wires and created a panic.

The Zeppelin retired in the direction of Thiel, 12 miles northeast of Ostend.

The Avenue Pile Saint de Noyor Bridge crosses the Canal de Derivation at the northeast boundary of the famous park, Marter-Duclietre, in the harbor and another on the premises of a wholesale fish dealer in the fish market, partly wrecking the building.

From Ostend, as the crew flies, it is only about 70 miles across the North Sea and the strait of Dover to the English coast.

FORTIFIED POSITIONS ARE STORMED BY RUSSIANS.

By Associated Press.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 25.—An official announcement from Grand Duke Nicholas, commander in chief of the Russian forces in the field says:

"On the southwest front the Russian troops have taken possession of the fortified positions of Gnychky and Poulstyn, which covered Klervilliers and other positions in the Ardennes region between Jambouille and Trazegnies. All the enemy's efforts on the Aisne have been repulsed.

GERMANS TELL OF TERRIBLE SCENES AT FALL OF LIEGE

Describe the Devastation
Which Is Caused by Assaults.

BLOCKS OF HOUSES LEVELLED

Nine of the Forts captured by Infantry and Four are Levelled by Big Siege Guns; Naval Lull Waste by Shells During 17 Days Outing.

Associated Press Correspondence.

BERLIN, September 25.—The following descriptions of the devastation at Liege and Namur are translated from accounts in the German press:

On the morning of the 20th, the day of a stormy day, the German troops entered Liege, where the smoke of burning houses was still rising upward, streets that showed the signs of life.

The heaviest shells were from the university were a mass of ruins. It was told that two days before, on August 21, shots came from these shops as if by prearrangement.

The inhabitants of the houses were driven out of the houses and taken to the men, and wherever had a weapon in his hands was shot. In a few minutes the streets were strewn with corpses.

The houses were set on fire by the shells. The German press described for me the details of the capture of Liege. Liege, the strongest fort, was bombarded by the newest Krupp guns, which were stationed in the market place. In the middle of the city, every man by the explosion, and pieces of iron fell from some of the houses.

The first man to enter the fort was a German soldier. A division of Liege were the first men to enter the fort. The destruction was terrible. About 400 corpses lay piled inside the stone walls. The streets were under a pile. About 200 wounded were counted.

The only man unhurt was the commandant. A wounded man, who evidently was about to be operated on, lay in the middle of the street. He had been killed by a shell. Liege had been killed by a shell. Liege had been killed by a shell.

Americans To Stay at Vera Cruz at Least 10 Days.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, September 25.—Secretary Garrison today ordered Brigadier General Funston not to withdraw from Vera Cruz during the next ten days. Secretary Garrison announced that the order was caused by a delay in the adjustment of army details incident to the transfer of funds and the customs house.

MEXICO CITY, September 25.—Prominent men here believe there still is a chance to make peace between Carranza and Villa, before the breach becomes irreparable. Meanwhile the general public does not seem to have been informed of the contrary. There has, however, been no influential citizens begging him in response to telegrams sent to Villa make peace.

There is a belief that Villa's action might afford a pretext for continued American occupation of Vera Cruz.

PAUL MAUZY, ONCE RESIDENT HERE, IS REPORTED MISSING

Insurance Company's Inquiry Brings No Light as to Whereabouts.

GONE A YEAR AND A HALF

After Leaving Connellsville, Where Coal Speculations Did Not Prove Profitable, He Was Heard of in Oklahoma and Texas; His Property
Was There Located Here.

A letter to The Courier brings to light the fact that Paul Mauzy, who was located here for some time as a speculator in coal propositions, has not been heard from for some time.

An inquiry has been started by the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, which issued a policy to Mauzy in 1909 in favor of his wife, Margaret A. Mauzy. The Mauzy's were then located here.

The company has not heard from Mauzy for some time. The letter to The Courier states "It is possible he may have deceased, and the beneficiary of the policy may not be aware of the existence of this insurance."

Inquiry among former friends and associates of Mauzy today brought to light the fact that he has not been heard from for more than a year. The last word was from his home in Illinois. It is not believed here that he is dead, but it is admitted that he is probably in hard luck.

Mauzy endeavored several coal transactions after he came here. He organized the firm of Dunn & Mauzy and interested local capital in his propositions. He bought several properties in Connellsville, intending to make it his permanent home.

Failure to command sufficient capital to protect his investments in the exploitation of a friend of Mauzy's, led to the collapse of his plans. He left Connellsville and the property he holds is now being auctioned off. It will probably never realize on it. He was not turned out satisfactorily for Connellsville persons who invested.

After leaving Connellsville three or four years ago, Mauzy went to Oklahoma and then to Texas. Efforts to locate him have failed, but the belief exists that he will be heard from some time.

STREET DEPARTMENT MOVES MATERIAL FROM STREET

Acts When Persons Notified Fail to Have Baldwin Avenue Cleared Promptly.

None of the persons involved in the litigation over the new building on Baldwin avenue having made any move to comply with the city's notice to take away the building material which was piled on the street, the street department took the matter into its own hands and directed W. W. Kerr, the contractor, to remove it.

The city served 24 hours' notice yesterday morning on W. W. Kerr, W. R. Lueken, the contractors, J. M. Goodwin, Louis Babbage and E. J. Both, all of whom are connected with the building being erected, and the Young Valley Realty Company, which is said to own one of the lots on which the building stands. Fearing to weaken the case in the court by its compliance with the city's notice, none of the parties obeyed the command, so Superintendent of Streets Hooper took steps to have the material removed at the city's expense, so the piling of the street will not be retarded.

Contractor H. H. Holmes of Scotland put a force of 10 men to work on the street this morning, excavating and hauling away the loose dirt. The blocks will be hauled to the spot within a few days and the actual paving will be begun in a short time. An example of carelessness in street supervision in the past was brought to light when the workmen were compelled to remove at night a pile of which some public service company had cut off at the street level, rather than remove it when a new one was erected.

The Baldwin avenue paving includes the short unpaved space at the intersection of South Prospect street.

ONLY TWO SCHOOL DIRECTORS GO TO SPECIAL MEETING

Board Fails to Meet and Act on President's Resignation.

YOUNKIN AND REITZEL THERE

Long, Davidson and Shaw Fail to Put in Appearance; Men Present Only Ones Who Voted Against the Gas
Contract at a Recent Board Meeting.

As was freely predicted about town yesterday, the only school board members who showed up at the special meeting called to act on the resignation of President F. E. Younk, were C. R. Himes and Mr. Younk.

The three members who could have attended apparently did not attach sufficient importance to the business to warrant their attendance.

It is a significant fact that the two members who attended were the ones opposed to the gas contract, recently approved, agreeing to pay 15 cents a thousand cubic feet for all gas consumed by the schools. It was because he refused to sign this contract that President Younk announced his intention of resigning about a week ago and called a special meeting to elect his successor.

Charles H. Balesley and C. W. Hays could not have attended the meeting, the former being out of town and the latter ill at his home on Prospect street with typhoid fever. J. R. Davidson, E. K. Long and Lloyd A. Shaw, however, were in town and had received notice of the meeting.

Even the janitors seemed to be convinced that there would be no meeting, for when 3 o'clock rolled around, the high school was in complete darkness. It was discovered, however, that a side door had been left open and the room was finally illuminated. Then the two directors settled down to discuss politics with the janitors and wait for their absent brethren.

Miss Camilla Munk, the secretary, happened along about 8.20 but not a sign was seen of the other directors.

It was discovered afterward that Long was at church. No report was received as to the whereabouts of Davidson and Shaw.

President Younk said today that the board could not force him to sign the gas contract.

"I am under no contract with the board," he declared. "I need work for them no longer than I want to, and the presidency is a perpetual office. It does not matter who may be in the office when papers such as the gas contract are to be signed. Any student of parliamentary law will acknowledge that it is foolish to contend that the presiding officer in the chair at the time a contract is made must sign it."

DYING STATEMENT EXCLUDED

Judge Ruppel Does Not Admit It as Evidence Against Cramer.

SOMERSET, Sept. 25.—In the trial of Henry C. Cramer, charged with the murder of John J. Trumpey at Kingswood last June, Judge Trumpey refused to admit the dying statement of Trumpey, charging Cramer with shooting him until further evidence has been submitted.

Several witnesses testified to effect that Cramer had threatened to kill Trumpey if he attempted to tear down the line fence between the two farms. Mr. Charles J. Hemminger of Kingswood testified that Trumpey told him Cramer had shot him. Mrs. Stella Cramer told the jury of lending Cramer a shotgun, which he said he wanted to kill a squirrel. The prosecution contends this gun, found on Cramer's farm, was the one used to kill Trumpey.

PROBE FOR NEEDLE.

Physicians Unable to Find It in Woman's Foot.

Mrs. Charles DeMuth of North Pittsburgh street is suffering great pain from an injury she met two weeks ago when she stepped on a needle, the greater part of which entered her foot. At first she paid no attention to the accident. Later her foot commenced to swell and she was taken to the Cottage State Hospital where an X-ray was taken.

The needle was discovered along the bone of a toe. When the physician operated on the foot a day or so later the needle could not be located. Another X-ray picture will be taken in the hope of discovering in which part of the foot the needle is now lodged.

This makes the three pieces total $71.00. And this total valuation, let us add, represents not the maximum but the very minimum at which these three pieces are sold regularly.

Thus You Save $21.50.

And this saving could not possibly be more genuine, as it applies to furniture of the very latest design—furniture that embodies both beauty and utility and furniture that represents the very finest of construction which anyone should be proud to have in their home. Just look at the graceful, comfortable lines on which this suite is designed and note how these three pieces of furniture would beautify your living room, and then take into consideration that by acting promptly you can bring the three pieces into your home at a saving of $21.50.

Just Two Easy Motions—

And Your Divan Is a Bed

The transformation of the Divan to a bed is accomplished quickly, easily and noiselessly. Just two simple little movements are necessary, requiring no effort whatever. It takes up less space than the ordinary davenport, yet when opened up it has the very same sleeping surface, being the size of the regulation full size bed.

Ample Room for Mattress and Bed Clothes.

They can be folded right up out of the way when your davenport is closed, and are kept free from dust during the day. The springs which are included with the davenport are of the steel wire link type. Very durable and resilient, giving this davenport all the comforts of the regulation bed. There are numerous steel ribs, or coils, at each end, which eliminate any sinking or common center if two people use the bed.

Description of Chair and Rocker.

The illustration, which is an exact reproduction of the entire suite, gives you perfect ideas of what the chair and rocker look like. But we want to explain their construction, which is hidden from view in the picture. They are made in a factory that prizes very highly its reputation for quality. The rocker has an exceptional long rocker base, allowing you to tilt far back without tipping over. The seat upholstery is of the strap spring construction type, giving the seat added resiliency. There are no tufts of any kind to collect dust or dirt or no hard tufts to make the back uncomfortable. All wooden parts showing are Mahogany finish.

All Three Pieces Upholstered in Art Leather.

As these three pieces, on account of their comfort, are bound to be subjected to a lot of wear it is necessary that the upholstery be of a quality that will stand hard use. And for this purpose nothing better could be found than the remarkable Art leather, which not only has a beautifully grained surface, but is extra sturdy and will long outlive the average upholstery.

These Three Pieces Practically Furnish a Room Complete.

They are so massive that the addition of a table or a piece or two of other furniture is all that is necessary to furnish the living room completely. And this room is bound to be one of the most attractive as well as the most comfortable, while the Duo-Fold Davenport practically adds another room to your home.

$5 Places All Three Pieces in Your Home.

It is our aim to do more than offer merchandise at a phenomenal low price—we feel that unless we provide a means whereby the person with moderate income can avail himself of our Special Price offers, our work is only half accomplished. Therefore we are not only offering this three-piece suite at the remarkably low price of $49.50 but enable you to take advantage of this offer by the simple payment of $5 at time of purchase and $5 monthly until the $49.50 is paid. Could any offer be more reasonable than this?

THE SOISSON.

"ESCAPED FROM SIBERIA" Tomorrow at the Soisson Theatre will be presented a magnificent live real production "Escaped from Siberia." It is a thrilling story of Russian cruelty in the mines of Siberia. A two reel feature "Box" is a thrilling story of the underworld. A very interesting romance of the west "A Daughter of the Plains" is another thriller. "A Heart and a Home" is a very funny comic. Tonight the "11th O'Clock" will be shown and Monday the weird creation "The Opium Smoker."

"THE PRINCE OF PILSEN" Bright comedy and lively musical numbers are among the features of the production of 1914, which will be the offering at the Soisson Theatre Tuesday September 29. The attraction is one of the regular Columbia Circuit shows that plays the large cities of the country. The company includes nearly 50 men and women the chorus alone numbering 24 pretty girls who sing and dance in a most delightful manner. "The Prince of Pilsen" is the bright picture play of the day, which includes such well known and popular as Jack Herring, Louis L. L'Amour, Fred Wess, Helen Douglas, Mary Leonard, Amy Williams, Martin Gould and others. "Meet Me at Maxims" is the title of the opening part in which the entire company is seen. The piece depicts night life on Broadway. "The Love Soldier" brings the performance to a close. This is a military piece written especially for "The Prince" and is said to be a big hit.

"THE PRINCE OF PILSEN" Our stage today possesses no more interesting or greater character delineator in roles requiring the use of the German-English dialect than John W. Ransome the popular comedian who originated and has played the part of the good natured and jolly Cincinnati brewer, "Hans Wagner." In the enormous all star revival of "The Prince of Pilsen," which will play an engagement at the Soisson Theatre, Wednesday, September 30. Contemporaneous with and struggling along the same plane with the late George S. Knight, J. K. Emmett and Gus Williams in the battle to make the German-English stage character reasonably truthful, Mr. Ransome, like these eminent and clever actors, has never loaned himself to buffoonery. For years a well known and likeable comedian, Mr. Ransome has created many delightful characters. He is best remembered in "The Pilsener Princess," "The Isle of Bong-Hong" and his impersonation of Richard Croker in "The Ruler of New York."

Chip of "The Flying U"

"Nothing of the sort!" I cried, now with all my professional aplomb aroused. "I'll save your best friend. I'll get his leg!"

"Impossible!" cried Chip. "Nothing is impossible to those who will!" I retorted, by way of replying. "You get the boys ready to help me. I'll come right away."

And I ran to the house, got my surgical kit and—before the shades of night settled on the Flying U, I had set the leg of Silver. The animal was safe in his stall. And the best friend of Chip of the Flying U was saved from untimely death.

And that night, at supper, Chip, for the first time since my arrival at the ranch, spoke words that were akin to what I afterward learned he really felt. He said:

"Della—Miss Whitmore—up to tonight my best friend was Silver. But now—Woody, you chump, pass the hash!"

The which was plain as the nose on his face that now Chip's best friend was none other than the "old maid doctor." So, you see, I was making headway in the game with my Chip.

CHAPTER VIII.

My Hero

A few days after the day on which I became acquainted with Chip's best friend, his leg, as Silver having been relegated to second place in the foreman's affections—I was busy in the "best room" in the ranch house—busy painting. Yes, I am compelled here to divulge my secret. I was at that time an "artist" as well as doctor.

Well, on this day in question, I was sitting by the window in my brother's "best room" painting, when who should pass the window and look in and see my work—s-s-o but Chip himself?

"Hello!" he cried, blowing out of the corner of his eye the picture on which I was working. "I see there is a real artist in camp. Now I can take a lesson or two. Behold me at your feet, mistress of art!"

During this speech, a rather long speech for Chip, I noted that he continued his study of my picture openly, brazenly—sizing it up as a connoisseur and a critic who knew his business. Perhaps it was just imagination on my part. But I felt that he showed some surprise at my work—not, mark you, surprise at the excellence of my workmanship, but astonishment at its poor quality. And this aroused my ire. To get even with him I handed him a letter I had just written, saying:

"Oh, Chip, won't you give this letter to Woody to take to the mail. I understand Woody is starting for town at once."

He glanced at the superscription. It read: Dr. Cecil Grantham, etc.

I saw him twinge all over. It was a twinge of jealousy. This was just what I wanted. I was getting even with him for that twinkle that came into his eye while he viewed my painting. To him, Dr. Cecil Grantham sounded, of course, like a man's name.

"A dear friend of mine—very dear," I volunteered, wickedly.

"So I see," he said, crestfallen. "All right, I'll give it to Woody to take to town."

the room which I had fitted up as my "office," when I walked the portly and vulgar and domineering Mr. Dunk Whitaker.

Dunk had arrived on another visit to the ranch—one of his now too frequent visits. He would blow in saying he just ran down from Butte to see Jack, my brother, and to look into his interests on the ranch as its "silent partner." In Butte he made his headquarters—clearing up, as he termed it, almost daily a "big bunch of dough" from his mining interests there.

So now when Dunk blew into my office, he began as usual his silly love making—that self-complacent, take-it-for-granted kind of love making that every woman resents. He pretended that he did not feel very well, and needed a doctor's advice.

"I feel kinder all in," he said, vainly searching his unimaginative mind for some substantial excuse for asking my medical advice. But he could think of nothing sounder than that he was "feeling kinder all in."

"Hard!" I said, giving him some pills. "Take one of these every other hour in half a glass of water till you feel kinder less all in."

"Thanks," he said. "You're sure some doctor, girl. Wouldn't it be kinder nice not to have to depend on this sort of doctorin' business for your living? Suppose, now, you was to throw that doctor's bag of yours in the ash heap and support your regular, Wouldn't that be kinder bully-like?"

"Oh, I'm not worrying about that," I said. "My fee for attendance such as I've just given you—and my advice—is five dollars, please."

He peeled off a new crisp five-dollar bill from a simply disgraceful wad of money—and gave it to me. He seemed to think that his five dollars entitled him to remain in my office indefinitely, for now he planked himself in my easiest chair and settled into it as if expecting a nice long chat.

But just then Chip came in. When he saw me with Dunk, he turned to leave, as if averse to interrupting a tele-tele. But I saw at once why Chip had come. His hand was bleeding—he had been hurt. And all my professional interest was aroused—also the motherly heart within me. So I made Chip come in. And I took a long while to bandage his hand and make him comfortable generally—all the while ignoring the thunderstruck Dunk, who at last perceived that along-side of Foreman Chip, he, Dunk Whitaker, part owner of the ranch, wasn't in for a minute with Dr. Della Whitmore.

When you arouse some men's jealousy you spur their tongues to action in the matter of expressing love. They grow bolder. The more jealous they become, the more desperate they get. With the result that they will lie in wait for an opportunity to express their heart feelings. It was so with Chip. As the days sped on, I found that I had to write almost daily to Dr. Cecil Grantham. And always I found a way to let Chip know that a letter was going to the mail for Dr. Cecil Grantham, (I'll verily believe Chip came to hate the very name of Dr. Cecil Grantham.)

ROCKWOOD.

ROCKWOOD, Sept. 24.—Charles Summers, who several weeks ago emptied his revolver on a Baltimore & Ohio train between Rockwood and Somerset, and again on Special Officer E. R. Ludwig upon the arrival of the train in Rockwood, was yesterday sentenced to two years in the Western Penitentiary following his conviction on two charges of felonious shooting. At the time of the shooting affair Summers escaped from the officer and posse that was hunting him and was lost in a clump of bushes from where he was routed and taken to the Somerset county jail.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Ream, who several months ago moved from Rockwood to Akron, O., have recently moved from Akron to Rockville.

The Atlantic Coal Company, four miles north of Rockwood will let contracts within the next few days for 20 additional new houses at the Black mine. The population of this new mining center has grown within the past six months from nothing to a town of 500 inhabitants.

A festival will be held at Wilson Creek on Saturday evening by the members of the St. Paul Reformed Church.

A. E. Bennett of Pittsburg spent Sunday last visiting his Rockwood friends. Mr. Bennett was formerly a Rockwood citizen.

The Evans military establishment will exhibit its fashionable line of fall and winter headgear on September 26.

SMITHFIELD.

SMITHFIELD, September 25.—Mrs. Elizabeth Tait and Mr. Amanda Frankenberg of Uniontown were guests of Mrs. J. N. O'Neil Wednesday. Just before their arrival Mrs. O'Neil had another guest that was not a welcome one but gave her a hard scare. She went to a window in the parlor to take the blind. When the blind shot up just outside the window on the screen that was outside the window sash, a snake was stretched on top of the screen, darting its forked tongue at her. Mrs. O'Neil fled to the home of Joseph Ewing across the street. Mr. Ewing went over but when he arrived the reptile had disappeared.

"Henry McClellan of Uniontown was here Wednesday serving a part of his term in the penitentiary for establishing the property lines on that street, some of which the council believed encroached on the street. The survey proved their contention to be correct."

A J. Riddle of Table was a borough visitor Wednesday.

G. W. Campbell, T. M. D. Lowe, Hays Gaskill, W. M. V. Mayfield, G. M. Grimm, H. C. and James C. Huhn, Petty-Durson, G. W. Burner are some of the Civil War veterans that attended the reunion at Uniontown Thursday.

WATER FARE LAW.

N. & W. Attacks Validity of West Virginia Two-Cent Rule.

Quoting at length from the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the recent five per cent freight rate advance case, the Norfolk & Western Railway Company has filed with the United States Supreme Court in Washington a brief seeking to show that under present conditions the West Virginia two-cent passenger rate law is confiscatory and unconstitutional.

In some quarters the attack on the validity of the West Virginia law was taken to indicate a second general attack upon two-cent passenger laws in various states.
